

2002 Annual Report

ROCHESTER, NEW YORK
POLICE DEPARTMENT

A MESSAGE FROM CHIEF ROBERT J. DUFFY

On behalf of the 862 dedicated men and women of the Police Department, I am proud to present the Rochester Police Department's 2002 Annual Report. Our annual report provides a graphic overview of the outstanding manner in which our employees faced the myriad of challenges throughout the past year as we provided the highest possible quality of service to our community.

The reduction of both crime and violence, and the targeting of the illegal drug trade in Rochester have continued to be the primary goals of the Rochester Police Department. During the calendar year of 2002, our murder rate stayed exactly the same as 2001, and we experienced reductions in the categories of rape, robbery, felony assault, burglary and auto theft. The only crime category where Rochester experienced an increase was in Grand Larcenies.

I am very proud of the Department's anti-crime initiatives throughout 2002. From October 15th through December 7, 2002, the RPD combined with the New York State Police and the Monroe County Sheriff's Office to form a joint detail focused on violent crime and drug trafficking in Rochester's most victimized neighborhoods. This tremendous law enforcement partnership was responsible for 822 arrests, 2,030 traffic summonses, 15 illegal guns seized, nine ounces of cocaine and four pounds of marijuana seized, 11 stolen vehicles recovered, and 13 search warrants seized. This effort resulted in drastic reductions in homicides and other violent crimes in the targeted area, and was widely supported throughout our community as the epitome of partnership and collaboration. During 2002, the RPD also entered into a countywide drug task force called the Greater Rochester Area Narcotics Enforcement Team (GRANET), which included the Monroe County Sheriff's Office and the Town Police Departments of Irondequoit, Brighton, Greece, Fairport, East Rochester and Webster. This is the first task force of its kind since 1990, whose focus is to coordinate a countywide effort against mid and upper level drug dealers in the greater Rochester area.

In December 2002, the Rochester Drug Summit finalized a report that detailed the problem of drug abuse in the Rochester region, and outlined a community-wide response to this problem that forced a performance measurement system to track the efficacy of this effort. The written report, authored by the Drug Summit with the assistance of Dr. John Carnavale, a former member of the Office of National Drug Control Policy in Washington, to our knowledge is the first community-wide drug strategy of its kind in the nation.

2002 also marked the year where two extremely qualified and dynamic individuals joined my management team. Dr. Cedric Alexander, a practicing psychologist and a former police officer in Florida, joined the RPD as our new Director of Organizational Development, which is an equivalent position of a Deputy Chief. Dr. Alexander is responsible for our Professional Standards Section, Professional Development Section, Personnel and the Family and Victim Services Sections. Also joining this team was Robert Maldonado, who assumed the position of Deputy Chief of Uniformed Operations, which oversees the Patrol Division and the Special Operations Section. Deputy Chief Maldonado joined the RPD after a distinguished career with the New York State Police, where he retired as a Captain in the Bureau for Criminal Investigations. These two outstanding individuals have made an immediate impact on the RPD, and we are very fortunate to have them join our management team.

The RPD experienced four critical incidents during the past year which caused great stress throughout the Police Department and our community. These incidents included two officer-involved shootings, and two in-custody deaths. These incidents were extremely difficult for the victims' families, the police officers involved, and both our Department and our community. The relationships and trust that the RPD has with our community were tested, but not broken, and was a great testament to the strength of our relationships and partnerships.

In June of this past year we joined the Fire Department and our City's Bureau of Data Processing in moving into our new Public Safety Building. This facility is absolutely beautiful and is state-of-the-art in every imaginable category to include a complete auditorium, and a command post for managing critical incidents. We are very appreciative of all the support shown by Mayor Johnson and our City Council to make this new building and our transition a reality.

Rochester's 311 system continues to be a tremendous success with its ability to handle voluminous amounts of calls for service, and effectively shifting workload from our already challenged patrol force. Our 311 lines handled 127,201 calls during 2002, which equates to approximately 10,600 calls per month. Our total for all phone calls received and services provided in 311, Headquarters, our Drug Hotline and CrimeStoppers was 257,853, which equates to 21,488 calls per month. 311 also accounted for 11,853 crime reports, 2,482 Investigative Accident Reports, and 2,609 Incident Reports, which is approximately 40% of the Department's entire report workload. The dedicated professionals who staff 311 have successfully provided invaluable additional time to our patrol officers in our neighborhoods.

The Rochester Police Department was one of 21 agencies nationwide selected to receive a COPS Promoting Cooperative Strategies to Reduce Racial Profiling Grant to enhance mutual trust and respect with our community, and was also one of six cities nationally to receive the Mayor's Challenge Grant, to help promote community-based education and awareness regarding seatbelt usage among our high risk populations.

2002 provided a number of challenges and tests for the men and women of the Rochester Police Department. Although this organization experienced great stress at times, we also experienced tremendous success throughout the year. These successes were due to the dedication, commitment, and perseverance of the men and women of the RPD. I am very proud of each and every one of our employees, and also very proud of our community who has never waived in their support of us, even during the toughest of times.

In closing I would like to thank our employees, our community, Mayor Johnson and our City Council for all of the hard work and support that resulted in a very successful 2002. May God bless you all and keep you safe.

ACCREDITATION

Accreditation ensures that law enforcement agencies provide progressive, customer-focused services and meet the highest professional standards.

The Rochester Police Department received national recognition upon accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. (CALEA) in 1987 and the New York State Bureau of Municipal Police in 1990. Under both programs, these accrediting agencies rigorously review Department practices for compliance with recognized and accepted law enforcement standards.

Accreditation is granted for three years by CALEA and for five years by New York State.

During these periods, the agency must comply with all applicable standards. A report is submitted annually to each accrediting body, attesting to continued compliance. At the end of each accreditation period, the agency undergoes a thorough on-site assessment to verify compliance for its re-accreditation.

As a leading law enforcement agency, members of the Rochester Police Department are proud of the high quality of service for which they have been recognized, and continue to pursue excellence in law enforcement.

ANIMAL SERVICES

184 Verona Street, Rochester, NY 14608

Animal Services is responsible for impounding unleashed dogs unwanted and abandoned pets and animals that have bitten or scratched a person. The unit enforces all local state animal control ordinances including a leash law, barking ordinance, number of dogs allowed per household, rabies quarantines, dangerous dog law, and dog licensing. Animal Control Officers assist Police Officers in the execution of warrants and ensuring officer safety when animals are involved. The unit also operates a shelter for temporarily housing stray, injured, surrendered, and menacing animals. The shelter serves both as an adoption center and as a lost and found facility. Animal Care Technicians maintain the shelter and the animals and assist citizens with finding missing pets or new companions. Animal Services offers outreach programs such as Dog Obedience classes, Pet First Aid, Dog Bite Prevention, and Responsible Pet Guardianship. The unit also has an active volunteer program that is essential to the maintenance of care for the animals. For more information about Rochester Animal Services, follow this link:

FIREARMS TRAINING UNIT

The Firearms Training Unit is responsible for all aspect of firearms training, repair, deployment and training and evaluation for the Department. The unit is also a resource for all other police departments in the county and surrounding regions, including state, federal and military agecies. In 2002 alone, 15 different agencies conducted training with the unit.

The unit also maintains an inventory of all Department weapons and ammunition, including specialized weapons, gas launchers, bean bag guns and related support equipment. Staff members conduct all repairs on weapons except for the most complex.

All Firearms related training is conducted in the 16 position indoor range or the 21 position ourdoor range. The indoor range targets have the capability of turning 180 degrees with a maximum distance of 25 yards. This unit is also responsible for the transition training for the new 45. caliber handguns.

RECRUIT & FIELD TRAINING UNIT

The Recruit and Field Training Unit is responsible for the coordination of Recruit Officer training, evaluations of Probationary Officers, certification of Field Training Officers and the field training and evaluation of newly promoted Sergeants and Lieutenants. This year saw major changes to the Field Training and Evaluation Program. The first half of the Police Academy schedule was adjusted to stress Firearms and Defensive Tactics. After 15 Weeks of academy training, the recruits were assigned to various sections of the Department for Field Training. The recruit officers were sworn members wearing their blues and firearm. This two-week period was used as the phase one, two-week limbo period of the Field Training and Evaluation (FT&E) program. The recruits were then returned to the academy for the final 10 weeks. The final phase of the FT&E program was increased from two to four weeks. This critical, evaluation only phase, was increased to better calculate the recruits ability to perform in a solo capacity.

RECRUITMENT UNIT

The human resources of any organization are usually its key ingredient for success. Employees provide the services, operate the technology, and manage resources and other employees. Employees are also the most unpredictable resources and often incur the greatest costs. These circumstances make the recruitment and selection of the right employee a matter of fundamental importance.

Recruitment is particularly important for the Rochester Police Department. In order to function properly, police services need to maintain high levels of trust and cooperation with other governmental agencies and with the citizens of Rochester. The selection of the right people as police officers is essential if public confidence in the integrity and effectiveness of the police services are to be established and maintained.

In 2002 the Recruitment Unit made 104 presentations in over 30 different venues. The Unit spoke in person to over 3,000 prospective applicants. Flyers were mailed to approximately 300 colleges nationwide, including all two-year colleges in New York State that offer Criminal Justice programs.

RECRUITMENT UNIT CONT'D.

The RPD's recruiting website averaged 30 hits per day, and the Unit sent over 1,100 e-mail responses and 400 U.S. mail responses (including brochures) to inquiries received. The Unit answered questions regarding the Department and employment with RPD to an average of 100 people per month via telephone and in-person visits.

CADET PROGRAM

The goal of the program is to offer high school students (11th and 12th graders) within the Rochester City School District an opportunity to choose a career path in law enforcement. The program will provide vocational training and education in the field of criminal justice, assisting trainees in becoming a police officer.

This will provide the RPD with an additional pool of qualified and prepared candidates with an emphasis on diversity and local residency.

Part I and Part II Offenses are defined in accordance with the Uniform Crime Reporting Program, a cooperative statistical effort of more than 17,000 city, county, and state law enforcement agencies. Administered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation since 1930, the Program's primary purpose is to generate reliable statistics for use in law enforcement administration and operation. The data, which has become one of the leading social indicators of our nation, is reported by the Rochester Police Department to the New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services, and is forwarded to the FBI.

Calls for Service

CALLS FOR SERVICE

The Rochester Police Department tracks all services to the community by "calls for service", "police responses", and "self-initiated activities". "Calls for service" are 911 calls dispatched by the Emergency Communications Department (ECD). A "police response" occurs each time an additional unit provides service at a given scene. As one call for service may result in multiple units in response, the number of responses is likely to be greater than the number of calls for service. "Self-initiated activity" is an event the officer comes across on the beat or initiates. In 2002, the number of calls for service decreased 1.0% by 4,505 calls, and the number of responses by units decreased 1.0% by 6,306 responses.

ECD assigns each specific incident a Crime Report number. The "CR" number is a unique number assigned to each event by which all reports, tickets, arrests, etc. can be traced. In the event that there is a need to refer back to a given incident, searches can be conducted by entry of the CR number, as well as the date or location of the incident. These retrievals are performed in the RPD Police Activity Tracking System (PATs), an in-house computer application that maintains data on all RPD activity and responses transferred from ECD to the RPD Informations Systems Unit.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT

HIGHLIGHTS OF 2002

In the Fall of 2002, the RPD combined efforts with the New York State Police and the Monroe County Sheriff's Office to combat violence and drug trafficking within the city. These efforts were focused in previously identified troubled areas, commonly referred to as the "crescent".

This additional presence of law enforcement officers allowed for an increase in enforcement actions by C-NET (Community Narcotics Enforcement Teams) that primarily focused on street level-open air drug markets, an increased ability to apprehend individuals wanted for violent felonies, and the ability to increase patrols and almost double the uniformed presence in the most violent areas of the city.

The results of the additional police presence were quite encouraging, resulting in 33 "wanted board" arrests for felonies, 2,030 traffic summonses, the seizure of 15 guns, the seizure of a variety of drugs including cocaine, crack cocaine and marijuana, the recovery of 11 stolen vehicles, and most significantly, a decrease in the number of homicides, robberies, and burglaries.

The Rochester Drug Summit, an organization resulting from the December 2001 Drug Summit, remained dedicated to fighting Rochester's drug problem from all angles. In December 2002, the Rochester Drug Summit finalized a report that details the problem of drug abuse in our region and outlines a response to this dilemma. To our knowledge, this is the first written comprehensive drug strategy for any major U.S. city. It relies on prevention, treatment, law enforcement, and a wide range of community collaborations.

City residents again joined with the RPD to help prevent crime in their neighborhoods. To view the entire Drug Summit Strategy Report *click here*.

HIGHLIGHTS OF 2002

The PAC-TAC Program (Police and Citizens Together Against Crime) continued to flourish. In fact, the Maple Section of the Rochester Police Department took the PAC-TAC program to a new level in 2002. They developed the concept of "Saturation PAC-TAC Patrol", which teamed ten to twelve PAC-TAC volunteers with two or three uniformed officers. The purpose of this enhancement was to achieve high visibility, as well as to deter criminal and/or drug related activity.

The enhanced patrols created a sense of community and perception of safety for many in the neighborhood. The volunteers disseminated crime prevention materials, community group information, and gathered intelligence about criminal or nuisance activity in the area.

Over 1,080 citizen volunteer hours were devoted to the saturation PAC-TAC walks in Maple Section this past summer, resulting in 454 saturation patrols. The saturation PAC-TAC approach has now been duplicated in other police sections in the city. This new initiative gives our citizens and RPD another weapon in the battle against crime.

In this day and age, it is becoming more and more necessary to build partnerships and collaborations with other agencies to maximize resources and achieve goals. The police department is no exception. In May of 2002, we combined investigative resources with the Monroe County Sheriff's Office, and the town police departments to investigate illegal drug dealers. This initiative, known as the Greater Rochester Area Narcotic Enforcement Team, or GRANET, brings these officers together to investigate mid and upper level narcotics dealers in the greater Rochester/Monroe County area.

Similarly, the Firearms Suppression Unit/Violent Crime Team is another example of a multi agency law enforcement initiative that has proven successful. It consists of officers from the RPD, the Sheriff's

HIGHLIGHTS OF 2002

Office, and the New York State Attorney General's Office, teamed with federal partners from the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms and Immigration and Customs Enforcement. This unit uses both federal and state laws to investigate and prosecute gun trafficking, illegal possession of firearms, and violent criminals who have historically managed to avoid prosecution.

The unit works jointly with GRANET, and together they are known as the Greater Rochester Operations Group.

Last year, our 311 system handled 10,600 calls per month, for a yearly total of 127,201. The system accounted for 11,853 crime reports, which represents 38.95 percent of all crime reports generated in the city.

To better serve constituents, we made a number of technological improvements that have resulted in new network security to protect our community's infrastructure.

HIGHLIGHTS OF 2002

Mobile data computing made it easier for officers to process reports in the field, an integrated all-county records management system simplified the sharing of law enforcement information among law enforcement agencies throughout the region, and a grants tracking database allows better management of existing grants and an easier method of seeking additional grant funding.

Rochester was one of only six (6) cities in the country to be awarded The Mayor's Challenge to Buckle Up America Mini-Grant. As a result, we will join forces with Rochesterians Against Illegal Narcotics (RAIN) to promote community-based education and awareness to significantly increase seatbelt usage among high-risk populations. The grant is for a total of $100,000.00, and the awareness campaign will roll out in 2003.

HIGHLIGHTS OF 2002

The Department was also the recipient of a COPS grant that is designed to enhance mutual trust and respect between specific community segments and law enforcement. Officially titled "Promoting Cooperative Strategies to Reduce Racial Profiling", the grant will allow us to finalize implementation of the Clergy Response Team and to respond to incidents of community concern.

Our emergency preparedness efforts continued through the last year, and on September 25, 2002, our Local Emergency Planning Committee of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, in conjunction with the Department of Justice, held a Rochester/Monroe County Chemical Weapons Full-Scale functional exercise. The scenario required a full activation of the Monroe County Emergency Operations Centers, RPD's Incident Command System, the City Hall Incident Command System, and the Rochester Fire Department Incident Command System.

DO THE RIGHT THING PROGRAM

The "Do the Right Thing" Program began in Rochester in 1996 and was adopted from a similar program in the Miami Police Department. The program's goals are to reinforce socially desirable behavior, to demonstrate that "good kids" are newsworthy, and to foster positive relations between young people and police officers.
